I am writing to you to ask that you please apply common-sense rules to the regulation of these new GM techniques. I find it amazing that in Australia, where we are so highly regulated in so many areas, that you are considering deregulating this area where so little is definite and so many things could go wrong. There will be a lot of finger pointing if the proverbial hits the fan and the safety of our population and our environment is put at risk. And of course it will be too late then.

Thankyou for your time.

Yours sincerely,

Karen Zaskolny
